It's Your Right !

A BAD ONE. Two Scranton people were seriously injured in this accident that happened shortly before noon last Friday on Route 59 (Warren-Kinzua rd.)

The operator of the coal truck and second car involved (see insert) escaped injury.

Story in In Brief.

PREVIEW OF THE JEFFERSON PAVILION
WILL BE HELD SUNDAY FROM 2 TO 5 P. M.

A preview of The Jefferson Pavilion, Warren General Hospital's new Intermediate Care Unit, will be held Sunday afternoon.

The program will officially open at 2 o'clock with a ribbon cutting ceremony, in which hospital and government officials will participate, and will continue until five o'clock.

This new Intermediate Care Unit is located in the old maternity section of the institution and is designed for patients who are not acutely ill or who are convalescing from a serious illness or fracture.

Its availability should relieve the pressure for acute general hospital beds in the main hospital.

A $225,000 project, the new facility was planned jointly by the board of directors, administration and medical staff.

CONTRACTORS

The principal contractors of The Jefferson Pavilion project were Beyer Construction Co., Warren, general contractor; S. H. Rasmusen, Warren, plumbing, heating and oxygen equipment; C. Beckley, Warren, electrical work, lighting and nurses' call system; Automatic Sprinkler Corp. of America, Youngstown, O., sprinkler system; Swart Elevator Service, Inc., Jamestown, N.Y., elevator equipment; and Hospital Furniture, Inc., Chicago, Ill., furnishings.

POLICIES AND RULES

The following policies, rules and regulations have been developed specifically for the Jefferson Pavilion.

1. The facility is an Intermediate Care Unit and will be for patients who have passed the acute stage of their illness.

2. No patient will be admitted directly to this facility but only on transfer from the main hospital.

3. All transfers will take place between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., except in case of extreme emergency. A. The doctor's consent will be obtained before a patient is transferred to the unit; B. Insofar as possible, the patient's desires will be considered and the transfer discussed with him beforehand; C. All transfers must be approved by the hospital administrator.

4. Visiting will be between the hours of 2-3 p.m. and 7-8 p.m., with visitors limited to two persons at any one time. Children under the age of 14 will not be permitted to visit patients.

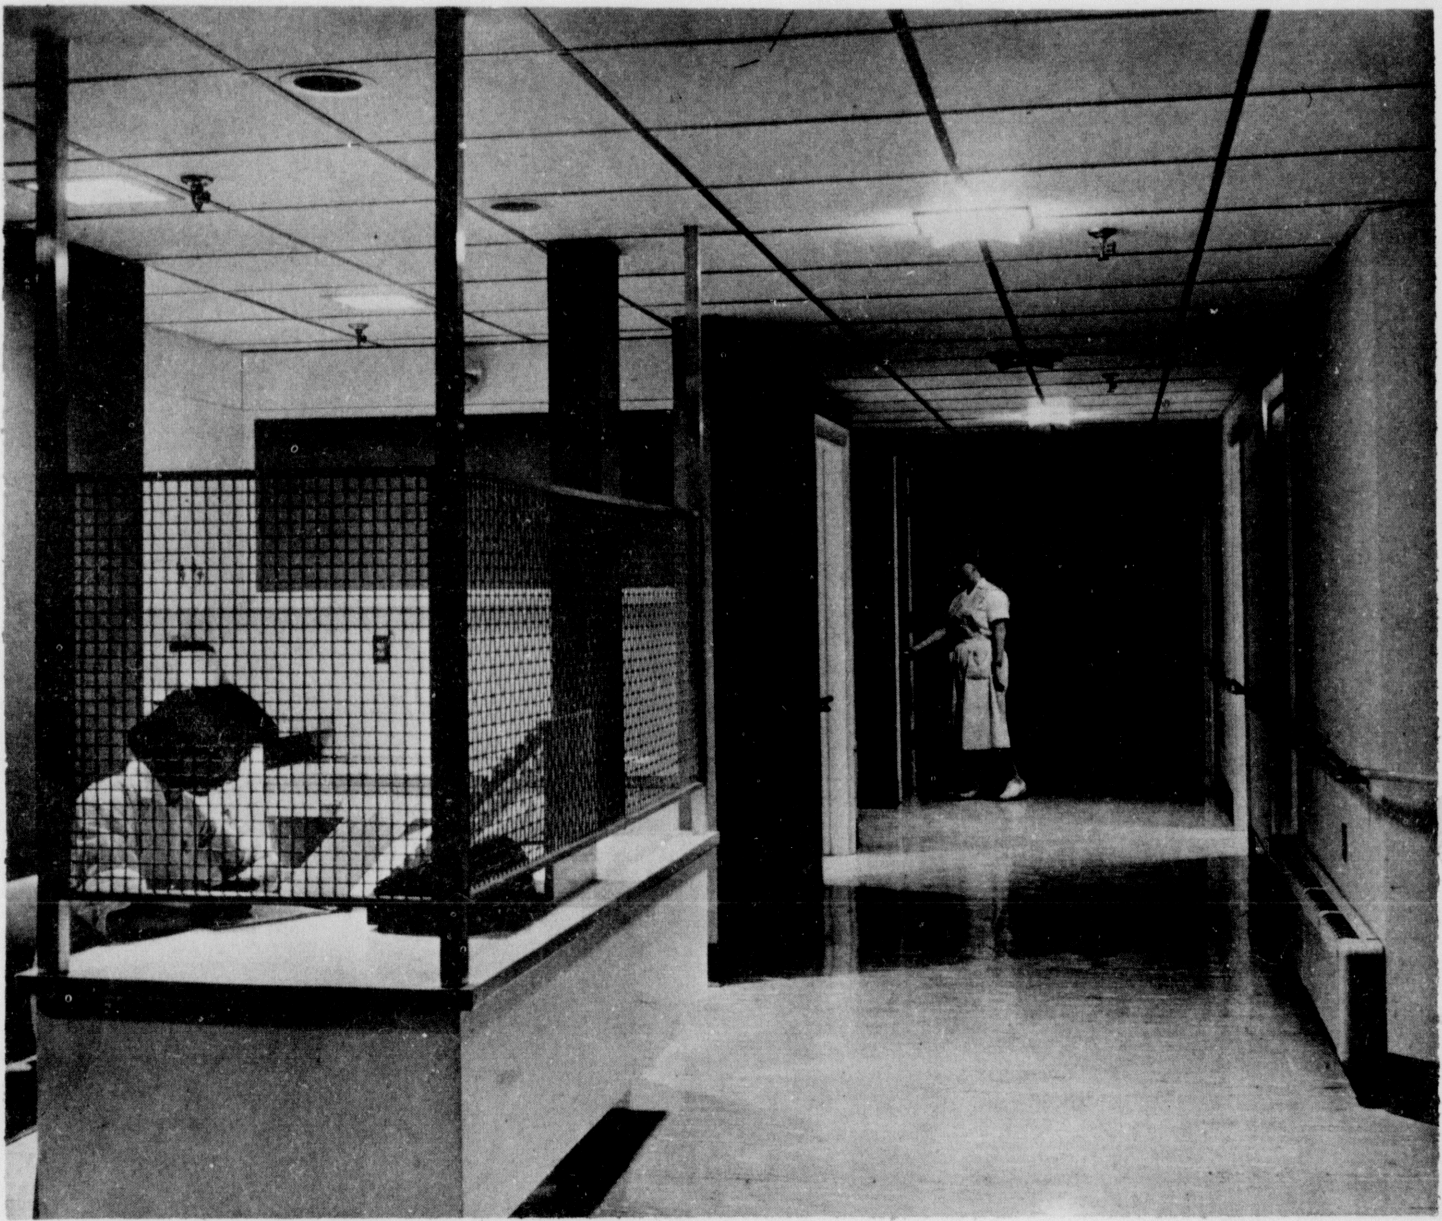

5. Whenever a patient in the Jefferson Pavilion becomes actually ill, he is then transferred to the main hospital and given preference over routine admissions.

6. Since twenty-five per cent of the chronically ill are children, it is assumed that children, as well as adults, will be accommodated.

7. Room rates in the Pavilion will be the same as those charged for similar accommodations in the main hospital.

The Jefferson Pavilion is furnished and equipped specifically for patient comfort. Room colors, draperies, rugs, etc., have all been carefully selected to add warmth.

Hand rails, as seen in the picture, have been installed to assist patients moving through the building; there is acoustical ceiling and vinyl tile, with underlayment throughout, with carpeting in the reception and sun rooms. Three stairways and an elevator provide easy access to any floor of the building and are conveniently available to all patients.

TWENTY-FOUR PATIENTS will be accommodated by the new Intermediate Care Unit. This is one of the seven two-bed rooms. There are four single rooms and two three-bed rooms.

The beds for patients are motorized for up and down movement, and have full safety sides; oxygen has been piped to each bed from a bulk unit located some distance from the Pavilion; and an audio-visual nurse-patient call system, in which the patient and nurse can communicate directly, has been installed.

It is expected new patients will first be moved into the new unit on November 11.

The aide is Janet Mong.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

IT'S WITCHCRAFT

The goblins will get you if you don't vote straight something or other. The goblins in the form of socialists, fascists, big business, progressives, reactionaries, labor, Khrushchev, and General Motors will get the man in the middle if he fails to pull the right lever next Tuesday. It is fitting that Hallowe'en so closely precedes the election.

But it is an exciting election in many ways. It has much color and plays a major role in world events. It also is the footstool for 1960 when a new president will be elected.

The Republicans are not sorry about this even though most pollsters agree that President Eisenhower is the most popular official in the nation today. If the GOP had not put through a law which forbids a third term, they could win with Ike in 1960, which suggests that the people are not going to get the man they prefer.

This greatly handicaps the man now in office. As a lame-duck president he holds no threat other than the veto and what little of his personality he can rub off on others in hopes it might elect them. The value of which is not considered to be potent.

We say the Republicans are not sorry because those who would run the party, and apparently are enjoying some success, are not basically like moderates. Nixon can not be classified as a Eisenhower type, and it looks like Nixon in 1960.

One campaign may change that Nixon high ride, however. Watch New York closely, Tuesday night. It may be the key to 1960. If Nelson Rockefeller wins in a year which is apt to be widely Democratic, and if he does this while his cohort is losing the senatorial contest, Nixon will be in trouble. As governor of the largest state, and as a successful candidate who has disassociated himself with Nixon in the face of off-year power, he may prove himself a natural heir to the Eisenhower charm.

The filibuster and the control of congress by southern rebels will play a major role in the results of this campaign. A real civil rights law will be possible if the rules can be changed so that committee burial and filibusters can be broken.

The only way this will be possible is through the election of enough progressive congressmen to provide a majority vote for a new set of rules. Amending the old ones can be blocked by congressional maneuvers, including the filibuster and the committee power.

Foreign policy has been described as out of place in a campaign. But both sides have talked about it.

Perhaps we should show a solid front on foreign policy when it is possible, but certainly there is nothing wrong with the voters making a choice of what policy they want. How are they to do this if the thinking of those involved is not expressed in the campaign?

The voters have the right to hear all the alternatives and they should choose the leadership which supports the policy wanted.

One of the unfortunate aspects of the present trend in our politics is the designation of the Democrat party as the friend of labor and the Republicans as the champions of big business. Big business does very well no matter who is in office, and labor has enjoyed constant advantages in recent years under both administrations.

In our way of life we must have both business and labor, and we will gain much the day we stop setting one against the other. No party is worth much in America unless it represents both, and neither will live long unless it has men within its ranks with sufficient variety of opinion to see the problems of all.

How to benefit both is the problem. And there the issues weave back and forth, depending which element within each party has the reins of the moment.

The right-to-work law is an example. The national law says that in states which establish such a law it will supercede contradictory federal laws. It is an issue this year in California, Ohio, Idaho, Kansas, and Washington. California has had the most publicity because of the personalities involved. Eighteen other states already have such a freedom.

In Pennsylvania the decision next Tuesday offers so little difference that this paper has not endorsed either party. Neither has the courage to do anything really progressive about the outmoded constitution or our impractical tax structure.

Both make promises of better services, but neither tells where it will obtain the money to provide them. Congressman Hugh Scott, GOP candidate for the senate, made an interesting statement. He pointed to New York state as an example of what can happen once you introduce a tax. It starts at one per cent and grows from there. We believe he was referring to the income tax.

He was so right. In Pennsylvania the Republicans introduced a one per cent sales tax. When Governor Leader opposed its renewal they increased it to a three per cent sales tax. And the Governor gave in.

Speaking of the very unfair sales tax reminds us of Sinclair Weeks who last week resigned as secretary of commerce. We wonder if his suggestion that a national sales tax be put into effect had just a little bit to do with his decision. It would get the works nationally, but in Pennsylvania we swallow it.

Or do we? Perhaps it will play a part in the expected Democrat sweep in this state next week.

These political wanderings do not represent an effort on our part to influence your vote. Few minds are changed at this late date. Which is a sad comment on American thinking. No mind ever should be closed to constructive thinking, even if the thought sparkles into light within the voting booth.

We suggest you vote even though it seems to make little difference. The fact is that politicians can be forced to consider the public with greater respect if the vote is bigger than the number their ward heelers control.

ALONG THE SAME LINE

That invitation goes much farther than that. Our advertisers and our readers are welcome at any time. If we lack the time to visit with them, they may wander as they wish and observe our methods.

They will see the latest electronic equipment in all departments, and if there is some doubt in their minds about the circulation figures in the various towns which we cover, the press run may be watched and the counter checked. Paper is expensive. We waste as little as possible.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Two of those who offered big profit ideas through vending machines have folded and their creditors are being asked to apply for what is theirs. The bankrupt are L and M Distributors Inc. and Coin Sales Distributors Inc., both of the Minneapolis area.

FRAUD CHARGES

The Post Office judicial officer has issued fraud orders against several who have used the mails to get your money for what the Department apparently believes are phony promises. It seems impossible that people would bite on these appeals, but here are some samples:

The Lifetime Pocket Radio sold a radio supposed to last a lifetime in your pocket.

For weight reduction we have three truly improbable. One is a phonograph record which is supposed to take off fat by audio-suggestion and is sold by the Audio-Suggestion Institute of Chicago. Then there is the Magic Button which any woman can press against her tummy and see the same reduced. This is the Alvin Company's pitch. And there is the Evapo Weight, Inc. approach. It sells a Pillo-Massage and a Super-Vibromatic which work on the spots you want contracted.

FIVE MILLION BILKING

One of the smoothest operations spotted by the postal authorities was used by Hyman D. Novick of Montreal. He collected over five million dollars from American business firms by placing orders for samples on a credit basis, and by calling shippers collect, asking for money to cover custom broker fees and Canadian custom charges. No money was remitted to the American firms and the merchandise was not returned.

USE THE BLIND

Among the lowest of law violators are those who use the unfortunate as a middle man or a front to make themselves money. Such a one is The Blind Workers, Inc., which has been charged with fraud for using its so-called charitable organization for the benefit of the promoters.

VENDING MACHINE FILCHERS

Edward A. Zaun, his son, and 14 salesmen have been indicted for filching more than $150,000 through a cigarette vending machine swindle. Advertisements were used in newspapers offering big inducements. The victims paid cash for what proved to be inferior machines and "hot locations" that were nonexistent.

In Brief

SWIMMING POOL sites and problems were discussed by Kenneth Abell, recreation consultant for the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, for a large group which met in Jefferson school last evening. He described the new high school site as the most ideal of those available. He rated the West Side area second, but was not happy about the flooding. Another hillside site on the East Side, known as the Myers site, was rated third best.

He suggested that the large area on which the high school will be located will provide an ideal community center for many activities and the pool also would serve the young people.

He said that authorities on the subject do not approve rivers for swimming because of the current and dangers to health which cannot be controlled.

He placed the cost of operation between $6,500 and $8,500 a year. Less than $6,500 would not do an adequate job, and more than $8,500 would indicate poor management. Small fee charges would more than cover this cost.

He urged an early meeting with both the school board and the borough council. He said such cooperation will help the drive and assure the future success of the pool.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE NAMED. The Board of Control of the Warren Library Association and the Warren County Library Advisory Board met Tuesday evening and appointed a special committee to set up plans for library service to all of Warren County.

The action was taken by the two boards on the basis that the county is being strongly considered as a case study area in a state-wide plan for public library development.

The plan to be drawn up will include the kinds of service to be given -- bookmobile, branch libraries, book stations, service through the Warren Public Library -- and will then be submitted to the state librarian for approval.

Named to the committee were Mrs. P. W. Coyle, librarian; William Clinger, Warren Library Association Board of Control; and Ernest Oviatt, of the Warren County Library Advisory Board.

COUNTY COURT. Three men were fined $100 and ordered to pay costs of prosecution when they were found guilty of drunken driving at Quarter Sessions Court in Warren Friday. They were Earl Felder, Harold Healy, and Robert T. Nevolas. The latter two were also given three day jail sentences. Vincent Cotella, for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, received a suspended six months to 23 months jail sentence and was placed on probation.

CARS OPERATED by Anna DeVore, North Warren, and Milburn E. Anderson, 311 Market st., Warren, collided nearly head on about 5:40 p.m. Sunday in the Hickory st. 300 block. Damage amounted to $300.

TWO SCRANTON PEOPLE were seriously injured shortly before noon last Friday when their car swerved into the path of an approaching coal truck on Route 59 about five miles outside of Warren.

Admitted to Warren General Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained when their auto was nearly demolished by the impact were Leonard Snyder and his wife, Sylvia.

The coal truck rolled over on its side after the crash but the operator, Theodore Huber, of Warren, escaped any injury. A third car driven by Richard Scalise, also of Warren, who was following the Snyder car, was damaged in the right front when the impact from the first collision sent the Scranton vehicle back into the guard rails. He also escaped without injury.

OVER $1500 DAMAGE was caused at 3:50 p. m. Saturday when cars operated by Ted Rosequist, 17 W. Fifth ave., Warren, and Anthony Boscarino, Jamestown, N. Y., sideswiped as they met each other on the Kiantone rd. a short distance beyond the Akeley intersection.

CHOSEN as one of the two medical directors of the Pennsylvania Division of American Cancer Society when the group met in Pocono Manor last Saturday was Dr. Homer Lewis, Jr., of Warren.

A WARREN WOMAN, Mrs. Jacqueline Robillard, required treatment for face injuries after the car in which she was riding struck the rear of a truck about 14 miles below Warren on Route 62 at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday. Operator of the car, which received about $1,000 damage, was her husband, Gene Robillard.

The truck, operated by D. L. McGuire, R. D. 1, Warren, had just pulled onto the main highway when the incident happened.

HOLDING ITS OWN in bond sales is Warren county which through September had purchased 82 per cent of its 1958 quota. The quota is $1,088,448. The county sale to September 30 was $894,218. Clarion and Montour are the only counties which already have met their full quota.

AFTER THE POLITICIANS have drawn their share on Tuesday of next week the bloodmobile will arrive on Wednesday. Distribution of blood during September for the Buffalo district included 98 pints for Warren General. Only four of 26 cooperating hospitals outside of the major Buffalo area exceeded this figure.

Short collections now are giving the program trouble. Chapter workers are being urged to make personal contacts for the purpose of increasing the supply.

UNEMPLOYMENT is not improved in Pennsylvania according to Secretary of Labor and Industry who says 23 out of 25 labor areas are classified as substantial labor surplus areas. The number of unemployed is 458,000, which is 9.7 per cent of the labor force and compares with the national percentage of 6 per cent unemployed. A year ago it was 240,000 or 5.1 per cent. The reduction in compensation claims is due to the exhaustion of rights.

NEED MORE MEN. The Civil Defense Rescue Training School, which starts Monday, is in need of 10 more enrollees.

Members of the class, which meets weekly at 7 p.m. Mondays during the months of November and January, will study how to evacuate people from a building, emergency lighting and use of power saws and acetylene cutting equipment.

MAN HUNT. Twenty-five members of the Civil Defense Rescue Unit conducted a "man hunt" drill Monday night in the neighborhood of Hatch Run and Fifth ave., ext. Harold Fulmer was in charge of the operation and was assisted by George Shirey and Lewis Spangler.

GET OUT TO VOTE. An accelerated campaign to "get out the vote" on November 4th was opened this week by the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce. David Swanson is chairman of the local promotion and announces that posters will be placed in downtown business area, lapel pins distributed and announcements made through the news mediums to encourage voters to exercise their right to vote.

APPROVAL TO OPERATE for the year has been granted the Family Service and Children's Aid Society of Warren County by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare. The notice recognizes the good casework practices, up-to-date records, and the upholding of special standards carried out by the local organization in keeping with state requirements.

IN COMPETITION. Warren Barbershoppers (SPEBSQSA) depart from Warren by bus at 7 a.m. Saturday morning for the district quartet and regional chorus competition in Geneva. The local chapter will perform along with two quartets, the Tunatics (MacSears, John Swick, Ad Scholes, Virgil Albaugh) and the Dominotes (Bob Dietsch, Howie Johnson, Carl Johnson and Jim Cruickshank).

PERSONALITIES. Nelson Johnson, director of the social service department of Warren State Hospital, was a principal speaker at the West Virginia University Department of Social Work Conference last week.

APPLICATIONS will be accepted until Nov. 13 for the positions of substitute postal transportation clerk, Post Office Service, in the states of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The pay is $2.00 an hour.

For more information contact the Civil Service representative at the Warren Post Office.

TAKES OVER STATION. Bill Long has taken over the operation of the Keystone Station along the three lane at North Warren. The station, previously managed by Glenn Longnecker, will now be known as Long's Keystone Service.

COLLEGE CHATTER. Donald L. Spencer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, 306 Market st., Warren, and a senior at Hamilton College, has been chosen for inclusion in the 1958-59 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". A graduate of Taft School, he is a member of the Hamilton chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon and captain of the Hockey team.

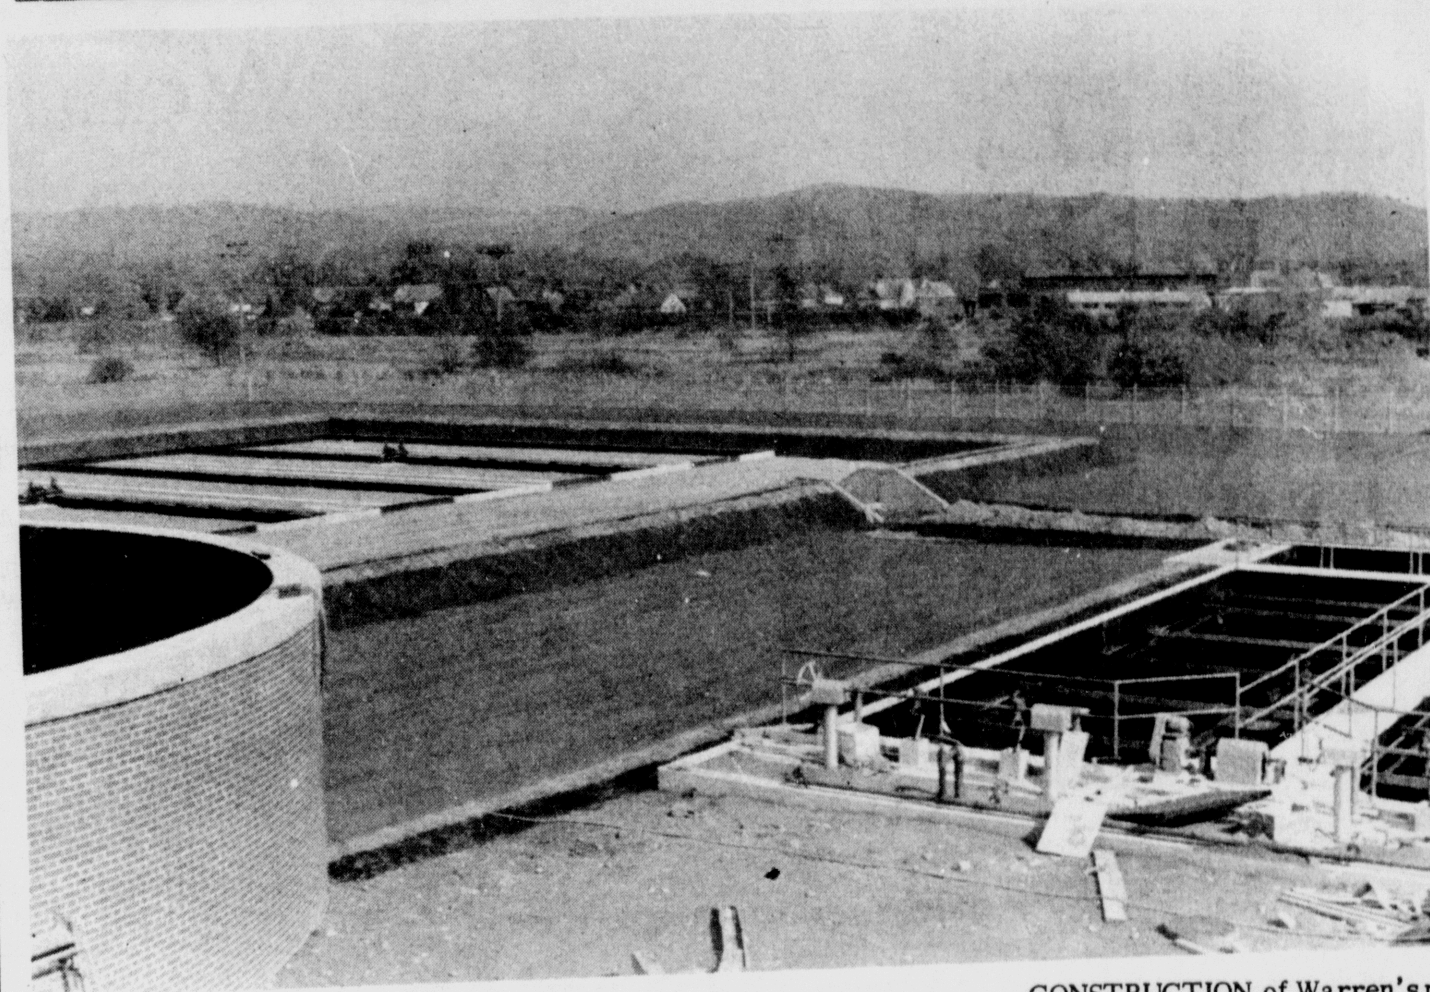

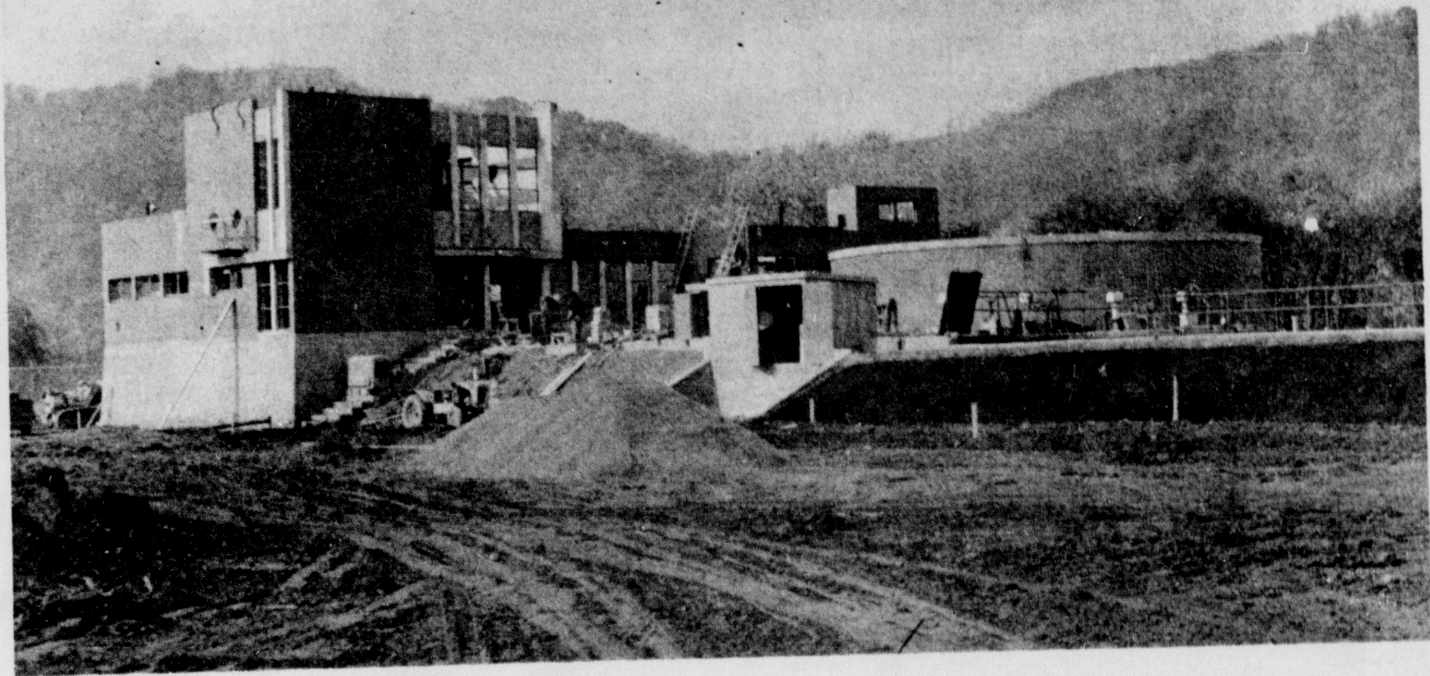

Three area students honored for scholastic achievement October 23 at a convocation at Theil College were Robert C. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Olson, R. D. 2, Warren; Elizabeth DeLong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. DeLong, North Warren; and Jane Burgett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Burgett, Russell.

MEN IN SERVICE. Joseph A. Masci, of Warren, graduated this month from the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

AN OUTSTANDING Eagle Scout between 14 and 18 years of age will be sought in the Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be designated as a "Report to the Nation" Scout or Explorer. The young man so designated will have principal roles in celebrations during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-13. Applications must be submitted by Nov. 21 to the Scout office in Warren.

MISPRINT. A large number of the postal rates listed in the "yellow section" of the new Bell Telephone directories are incorrect, according to the Warren-Forest County Postmasters Association. The error was likely caused due to printing of the pages prior to the time of recent postal changes.

Classifications involved in the error are air mail, first class, second class, third class, books, fourth class, combination mailing, foreign letters and postcards. When in doubt, check with your post office.

A reminder that foreign packages and those for APO or FPO addresses should be mailed now, at least no later than Nov. 20, if they are to arrive before Christmas.

The Wednesday afternoon closing of the mailing windows at the Warren Post Office has been discontinued.

COSTS in handling overdue books at the Warren Public Library have been increasing so the board of control has taken action to increase the fine rate for the first time in 25 years.

Effective Nov. 1, the fine for an overdue book in the adult section will be five cents per day, including Sunday and holidays; a charge of $2.50, in addition to the current price of the volume, will be instituted for all lost books. Fines on children's books will remain at one cent per day.

NEW ADVISOR for the Area III-B Order of the Arrow is Elmer H. Morgan, Scout executive of the Chief Cornplanter Post. The area is comprised of nine councils in Northwestern Pennsylvania. The Order of the Arrow is a national honorary tamping fraternity.

GIVE BLOOD!

REV. BASINGER

MRS. BASINGER

Rev. Iner Basinger, a member of Billy Graham's Caribbean Crusade team, is speaking and singing at 7:30 o'clock each night through Sunday, November 2, at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Pittsfield.

The evangelist's wife, Emily, is assisting in the inspirational program of music which precedes each message.

The Basinger's ministry has taken them into every state in their travels in the past thirteen years and into most of the Canadian provinces. They have been called out of this country to join in evangelistic teams for campaigns four times since 1954.

DEDICATION. This brick and glass block bulletin board was dedicated at the Sunday morning service of the First Free Methodist Church on Conewango ave. in Warren last Sunday.

It was given in honor of Mrs. Julia Anderson, the last charter member of the church which was organized in 1912. She died on January 19, 1957.

Donors of the memorial were neighbors and her three children, Archie L. Anderson, DuBois; Miss Edna Anderson, Chicago; and Mrs. Paul Moyer, Union City. The husband of Mrs. Anderson is Ernie Anderson, formerly of 11 Madison ave., now a patient at Brennan-Root Nursing Home.

Interest High For November 4th Election

THOMAS P. KENNEDY

JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

RICHARD R. VanKIRK

HAROLD F. SPINK

GENEVIEVE BLATT

LEON H. GAVIN

Interest in the Tuesday, November 4, General Election will be captured by the races for the U. S. Senate seat and that of Governor of Pennsylvania.

In addition to these offices the voters of Pennsylvania will select three other major candidates -- one for Judge of the Supreme Court, one for Lieutenant Governor, one for Secretary of Internal Affairs; thirty Congressmen; twenty-five State Senators; and 210 Assemblymen.

Gov. George Leader (D) will oppose Republican Hugh Scott for the United States Senate seat which is being vacated by Edward Martin (R). The term of Joseph S. Clark, Jr., expires in 1963.

For the Governor position the candidates are David L. Lawrence (D) and Arthur T. McGonigle (R); John Morgan Davis (D) and John M. Walker (R) are slated against each other in the race for Lieutenant Governor; the Judge of the Supreme Court post is being sought by Curtis Bok (D) and Robert E. Woodside (R); Genevieve Blatt, Democrat incumbent, and Andrew J. Gleason (R) form the opposition for the Secretary of Internal Affairs desk.

On the local scene Thomas P. Kennedy (D), Port Allegany, is running against Republican incumbent Leon H. Gavin, Oil City, for Representative in Congress from the 23rd District; Richard R. VanKirk (D), Oil City, and incumbent Leroy E. Chapman (R), Warren, are in the race for Senator in the General Assembly from the 48th District; Republican incumbent Allen M. Gibson, Warren, will have Harold F. Spink (D), Sugar Grove, as opposition for the seat in the General Assembly.

The one proposed amendment to the constitution to be voted on by Warren County voters is:

"Shall Section one of Article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to exempt private forest reserves from the requirement that all taxes be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, and to permit the General Assembly, by general laws, to set up standards and qualifications for private forest reserves and make special provision for the taxation thereof?"

Figures compiled after the May Primaries indicate that there are 2,718,179 Republicans and 2,451,414 Democrats registered in Pennsylvania. As of Monday the latest registration totals in Warren County were 12,392 Republicans and 6,056 Democrats.

The hours during which you should cast your votes November 4 are between 7 a. m. and 8 p. m.

The voting polls in the county are located as follows:

WARREN BOROUGH -- First ward, Court House; second ward, YWCA; third ward, Armory Building; fourth ward, McClintock School; fifth ward, Jefferson School; sixth ward, South Street School; seventh ward, County Building on Onondaga ave.; eighth ward, Ben Clifton Real Estate Building on Conewango ave.; ninth ward, Lacy School.

ASIDES

CAMERA MIX-UP. How can a man and woman ride horses parallel to each other and exchange flirtation glances while both of them look to the left? It happened in Bat Masterson, the tv cane-man, in the close-up shots.

FROM EAST BERLIN a friend sends us a card . . . "when I was in East Berlin Soviet restrictions on EVERY individual became comprehensible. Everything (stores, restaurants, abodes, etc.) is owned by government. Prices are about eight times higher than U. S. Wages so low that every mother, child, and father must work for subsistence. Hence few people on streets of huge city. All grim."

SIXTY AT SEVENTY is the claim for a German car. A friend tells us such a car delivers sixty miles to a gallon while traveling at speeds as high as seventy. And it is not one of the puddle-jumpers. Such a motor must have something not found under the hoods of anything we see daily.

CAT ON A HOT TIN ROOF proved to be a large amount of movie. If you missed it you lost a pleasant evening. If you attended you learned the meaning of "mendacity".

SOME BELIEVE that Hugh Scott may defeat Governor Leader for the senate, even though a Democrat victory may be enjoyed in the nation. Possibly the reason may be found in the voting. The voting of Congressman Scott has been approved by such progressive magazines as the New Republic, and it parallels more Democrats than it does Republicans.

It runs almost opposite to the voting of our own very reactionary Leon Gavin and that of Senator Martin whose place Scott would take. How can a man vote for both a Gavin and a Scott on the same ticket. Americana?

DRINKING WATER For Sale. Canned drinking water for storage in your bomb shelter has come to Warren. The can we have was packed by the H and M Packing Corp. of Glendale, Calif. It is called "Emergency Drinking Water". Hardware stores are expected to be handling it soon.

OFF FOR CHARLOTTE, N.C. are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hoff, two Warren residents who are doing something tangible about Dr. Frank C. Laubach's literacy efforts. We discussed this program in a summer issue and carried Dr. Laubach's Chautauqua lecture.

The Hoffs have been working at WKNO-TV in Memphis, Tenn. where programs were kinescoped to help teach reading and writing to the illiterate. The first test of this program now will be made in Charlotte, N.C., where the station will donate the time and fourteen counties will be reached.

Through the energies of a retired business man, Mayes Behrman, who is concerned about the plight of the negroes, the Charlotte program has been arranged. The Hoffs will help in this organization work and will establish centers for the students. There also will be workshops for POOR FM. About the time we thought FM was going to receive its long deserved break, and the public likewise, through stereo broadcasting, RCA pulls out the rug. Stereo sound can be broadcast through FM, which means that this type of broadcasting which already offers better quality would be even more improved.

But RCA claims it has found a way to multiplex an AM and will have it ready for use within two years. In either case you must buy a new set in order to enjoy the true reception.

THE BREWERS didn't miss their chance to make the most of national pretzel week. A news release from the brewers' foundation pointed to the traditional association of beer and pretzels. It claimed that pretzels have become a favored delicacy in millions of homes, and that beer, long the pretzel's historic companion, also has enjoyed this trend.

In the midst of this nod to pretzels we find Arthur McGonigle, whose business success is built on his pretzel bakery, wrestling with Pittsburgh's David Lawrence for the governorship.

(Pretzels are good with milk, too.)

MR. MCGONIGLE will visit Warren county this evening and will make several appearances Friday. He will be accompanied by his wife. Hosting him at breakfast Friday will be a telephone committee of Republican ladies who are turning a unique campaign trick this year. One hundred of them are attempting to call every registered Republican before election day in an effort to get out that vote.

PUBLIC EVENTS

THE HALLOWEEN PARADE . . . sponsored by the Jaycees, will take place tomorrow (Friday) evening, starting at 7:00 p. m. Formation point is the YMCA, from which the parade will move south on Liberty to Second ave., west along Second ave. to Hickory st., north on Hickory st., and finally north on Liberty st. to the "Y".

Judging will commence at the Spot immediately after the parade, and a party for all participants will end festivities. Prizes will be awarded in each of four divisions: Pre-school, grade school, high school, and adult.

THE PUBLIC . . . is invited to attend the preview of the Jefferson Pavilion at Warren General Hospital from two to five p. m. this Sunday. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at 2:00 o'clock.

DON'T FORGET . . . to attend John Crosby's lecture in Beaty auditorium at 8:15 tonight (Thursday). Seats are available and tickets, at $1.00, may be purchased at the box office.

The noted television critic is being brought to Warren under the sponsorship of the Warren High School faculty.

Mr. Crosby will suggest how children may be rescued from the influence of mediocre television and interested in school books and homework. The New York Herald Tribune columnist will discuss "Television's Challenge to Teacher and Parent". He will outline to his audience how education can proceed in the home as well as in the school -- with the aid of television, or in spite of it.

WORLD FELLOWSHIP WEEK . . . will be observed by the Y.W.C.A. Sunday, November 9, at 3:30 p. m., in the form of an international study program and tea. The story of "How Our Neighbors Live" will be pictorially shown by the following people: Miss Anna Grandin, "Our Neighbors in Northern Europe"; Mrs. A. Culmer Schultz, "Our Neighbors in South America"; Mrs. Raymond Steber, "Our Neighbors in Hong Kong"; Mrs. Donald Spencer, "Our Neighbors in India"; and Miss Kathryn Martin, "Our Neighbors in the Middle East". All have recently visited the countries they will portray, and Miss Martin has just returned from a year of teaching at Atabuk Gils' Lycee in Istanbul, Turkey.

A group of members of the Warren Boy Choir will sing two devotional numbers at the opening of the program and later two songs from other lands. After the World Study there will be a Fellowship Tea. All members of the community are invited.

Mrs. Roger W. Thoma and Mrs. Kenneth Middaugh are co-chairmen of the World Fellowship Committee, assisted by other committee members.

GENERAL

THE ANNUAL FALL RALLY . . . of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Jamestown District will be held on the grounds of the Methodist Home for the Aged in Meadville on Saturday, November 1. Purpose of the trip will be to turn over to the Home for the Aged all of the "Fall Festival" money collected by the Fellowship.

Several hundred district youth will join the caravan at selected points.

A PIE SOCIAL . . . sponsored by the Lamplighters Class of the First E.U.B. Church, Warren, will be held Tuesday, November 4, with serving from 4:00 to 7:30 p. m. There will be a choice of pie and coffee, or pie and coke, for twenty-five cents.

GET YOUR SEASON TICKET NOW . . . . . for the Jaycee International Film Festival. The price for all six films is $5.50, tax included. Send in an application or stop at the United Cigar Store. Maria Schell stars in this first foreign film, "The Last Bridge", to be shown in Beaty auditorium at 8 p. m., on November 11. She is starring in Playhouse 90's production tonight (Thursday). This film reveals the electric personality of Maria Schell, who overnight became an international star for her magnificent portrayal of a wartime nurse with divided loyalties.

A DESSERT-CARD PARTY . . . will be held at the Woman's Club Thursday, November 13, beginning at 7:00 p. m. Tickets are $1.25 and the public is invited.

There will be individual table and door prizes. Bridge club groups can come in a body, tables of four reserved, or individuals can call the club and be placed with others to make a foursome. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

For reservations, phone the club, 410, or Mrs. P. J. Wilson, 2615. Tickets will be available at the club or from Mrs. N. B. Donovan, 2536. Mrs. R. E. Forsgren is in charge of the serving committees.

TREASURY AGENT:

U. S. SECRET SERVICE SMASHED $2 MILLION COUNTERFEIT RING IN FRANCE AFTER WORLD WAR II

This is the eighth in a series of articles taken from "Treasury Agent," just published by Simon and Schuster, Inc., and written by Andrew Tully, well-known newspaperman.

BY ANDREW TULLY

SECRET SERVICE AGENTS on the trail of modern counterfeiters often find themselves involved in the intricacies of international diplomacy.

For in the past 20 years it has become apparent that illicit money-makers have acquired a fondness for the well-respected American dollar and are prepared to invest their talents in reproducing it.

An example was the $2,000,000 counterfeit ring smashed by SS agents, the American Express and French police in Marseille, France, shortly after the end of World War II.

Adolf Hitler had reminded the Secret Service during World War II that its responsibility for protecting the integrity of the nation's currency did not stop at the water's edge. Our agents had worked with British authorities during the war on one of Der Fuehrer's more grandiose schemes to undermine and conquer the free community.

As American troops penetrated German soil, several enemy trucks were captured and found to contain crates of beautifully counterfeited English money. Since some of this phony stuff had been smuggled into England, the British government promptly changed the design of its currency.

The Secret Service spent months in an intensive investigation to determine whether Hitler also had printed some American currency but with no definite results. Captured officials and military brass admitted that Hitler had thought of the idea but claimed that the project was abandoned because the American currency design was too tough to duplicate.

Nevertheless, some U. S. officials feared they had overlooked something when in the months following V-E Day phony American banknotes began showing up in New York City. At first the notes were passed in waterfront saloons; then they began showing up in the pocket-books of displaced persons arriving in America to make a new start.

One day, a $50 note appeared in London, and Scotland Yard appropriated it. It was identical with phony currency that had been showing up in Paris and other large cities on the Continent.

The Yard contacted Secret Service headquarters in Washington, and the SS decided on direct action. To Paris went a French-speaking agent named Colonel William A. Karp to see if he could find and do business with the boys pushing the curly.

Tipped by the French Surete on likely neighborhoods, Colonel Karp spent several weeks lunking in cheap bistros, playing the quiet role of a man up to no good but being discreet about it. He managed to convey the impression that he was in the market for counterfeit dollars. But, of course, one had to be careful.

Shortly, Colonel Karp was introduced to an habitue of a bistro in Montmartre. The mug's name was Anatole, and he, too, was a man of discretion. For several days the two kept company over their cognac but never discussed anything but the venality of the police.

But the rule in undercover work is that if you wait long enough and conceal your eagerness, the hoodlum eventually will come to you. Anatole eventually came to Colonel Karp and announced casually that he could offer the colonel a quantity of well-made counterfeit notes which he felt sure would pass as legal tender in the United States.

Colonel Karp allowed that he was interested. Two days later Anatole arranged a meeting between the colonel and "a friend" in a saloon on the Place Pigalle. Anatole stayed home, but the "friend" sold the colonel a couple of $20 bills as samples. Casually, he suggested that a larger order could be filled from the gang's plant "here in Paris."

By this time two other Secret Service agents had arrived in Paris -- Vernon Sorrels and Albert Whitaker. They were huddling daily with French police and with an American Express representative who preferred to be addressed as "Jones." From these huddles, and from informants, they collected a folder of evidence pointing a suspicious finger at one Charles Givélet, owner of a Paris printery.

Givélet was tailed for a couple of weeks and then, on September 18, 1947, he was hauled in for questioning.

Givélet had a strange story. "I will tell everything," he told his questioners, "but you will find it fantastic. Nevertheless, it is the truth, and I may die for telling you."

Givélet said that about six weeks earlier his shop had been invaded by a gang of counterfeiters from Marseille. By threatening to kill him if he protested, they forced him to let them use his shop to print bogus five-, 10-, 20-, and 100-dollar bills.

"The plates were beautiful," reported Givélet with Gallic enthusiasm. "They were the work of an artist."

Leader of the gang, he said, was one Joseph Stinca, a former chauffeur who had lived in Marseille. Checking on Stinca in the files of the Surete, it was learned that he was a professional house-breaker who had been sentenced to 20 years in the pen for armed robbery and then pardoned for his services to the Resistance movement.

But the police had found Givélet too late. He reported that a few weeks before he had persuaded the counterfeiters to move out of his plant by threatening to expose them to the authorities. The counterfeiters blew the place, all right, but, according to Givélet, they took his best mechanic, one Jean Yves, with them.

Meanwhile, however, Givélet was shown a shiny new $50 bill which had been passed in New York and identified it as typical of the stuff the gang had turned out in his shop. The gang now had been placed in France, or perhaps Paris, but the question remained: Where? Agents Sorrels and Whitaker, the American Express' Mr. Jones and a couple of French policemen now traveled to Marseille for a look around.

They had just started cultivating acquaintances with several underworld types when the law got a big break. Charles Givélet's kidnaped mechanic, Jean Yves, showed up in Paris. He said he had escaped from the gang.

He not only was willing to talk, but he seemed to know what he was talking about. With a fine eye for detail, he described the locations of the gang's two main printing plants near a small village about 20 miles outside Marseille. The two plants, he reported, were about three miles apart. One was a hunting lodge and the other was a large private house.

Sorrels, Whitaker and Jones were contacted, and the raid was set for the morning of September 27.

About 8 o'clock in the morning the raiders started out. They added up to 30 French policemen and secret agents, plus Sorrels, Whitaker, Jones and a couple of police dogs. Driving to a spot two miles beyond the village, the raiders parked their cars and entered the woods about a mile and a half from the hunting lodge.

The only person found in the lodge was an aged Corsican caretaker named Jean Paul de Peretti, who greeted them with his hands in the air. It could have been sticky, though, for in one room of the lodge the agents found two automatic pistols, a Thompson sub-machine gun, two U. S. Army M-1 rifles and several other rifles of German design.

In another room behind a locked door there was more important evidence: a lithographic stone covered with black ink, part of a lithographic press and some other printing machinery.

Leaving a dozen agents at the lodge against the arrival of some more potential defendants, the raiders moved onto the second printing hide-away.

This time they had to walk a good three miles through tangled underbrush before they came to a solidly built stone house in a clearing. A car was pulled up alongside the house, but nobody was insight. After several agents were detailed to surround the house, the rest of the raiding party went to the front door.

Curiously, the door was unlocked, so the raiders walked in, guns drawn. But there was nobody in the house. Near the rear door, however, there was another door which led through a chicken house to a small building built as a kind of annex to the main house. In walked the agents, to find a man at his work. His name was Louis Bertillo, a printer, and he had been mixing printers' ink on a lithographic stone. Louis just stood there, reaching for the ceiling.

Also in the room the raiders found a power-driven printing press set up for printing prefix and suffix letters and two digits of a serial number for United States currency. Hidden under 20 sacks of chicken feed was evidence consisting of four wooden packing cases containing more than 10,000 sheets of paper, each bearing 15 impressions of the faces and backs of five-, 10-, 20-, and 100-dollar notes.

The raid had come just in time to prevent distribution of $2,145,200 in counterfeit United States currency.

Back at the lodge, the law was hitting the jackpot, too. Shortly after the first raid, three members of the gang drove up in a car and were nabbed. And later five others were arrested when they showed up in a 10-ton truck to move the printing equipment from the lodge to the second hideout. In all, the two raids had netted 10 prisoners and all the gang's equipment.

But there was an important absentee, Joseph Stinca, the ring-leader and brains of the gang. He was to be missing until the following January, when he was picked up by Paris police. Subsequently he was found guilty of counterfeiting in a French court and handed the surprisingly light sentence of six months in jail and a fine of 100,000 francs (about $232).

Sentences meted out to the other defendants also were light compared to those they could have anticipated in a United States court, where a five-year rap is commonplace.

At Washington headquarters of the Secret Service, however, the brass decided to look on the bright side. After all, those two raids in the French woods had saved an assortment of American citizens a total of at least $2,145,200.

3 out of 4 women prefer an
clothes dryer

They have good reasons for their choice. An electric clothes dryer has no flame, no fumes, no no flue. It's safe and gentle enough for the prettiest colors or the most delicate fabrics. It's clean—and easy to operate. And an Electric Dryer is so trouble-free—as few as five moving parts compared to 18 or more in other type dryers. No wonder an electric clothes dryer is first choice with so many women you know!

CLASSROOM REPORT

An early report on "Continental Classroom", a television college course in Atomic Age Physics, discloses that some 20,000 persons sent in their fifty cents for the syllabus which accompanies the course. These 20,000 represent a portion of the viewing public which is not enrolled for college credit. Those who have enrolled with one of the 234 colleges granting the credit, receive the syllabus free. It is difficult to estimate the number who may be taking the course, via their living room screen, but have not enrolled for credit nor sent for the syllabus.

Supporters of the classroom course feel that even after a few weeks of viewing it can be hailed as a spectacular success, to which no small credit must go to the instructor, Dr. Harvey E. White, professor of physics at the University of California.

AN ANGRY PAIR

Last week, on his late night show, Jack Paar publicly denounced a certain television publication which carries program listings, plus the usual pics and tales of those in the small screen world. It seems that this magazine had several times published some erroneous stories concerning Paar and his show. When asked by him to retract the statements, which he considered harmful and insulting, they had countered with another untrue report.

So Jack took a considerable portion of program-time to explain the situation to the world and minced no words in evaluating the publication. His advice to Mr. and Mrs. America was to this effect: the magazine is no longer characterized by integrity and good taste since it does not hesitate to print sensational, untrue stories in an attempt to hold a dwindling circulation; since its program listings are as faulty as its feature stories, it should be scrapped in favor of the local newspaper which more accurately carries a more up-to-date list of daily channel programming.

We support Jack in his advice concerning the use of the television section in your local newspaper. It is far more accurate because it is compiled just a couple of days before it reaches you. Therefore, it contains the most recent schedules as released by the channels represented. A magazine printed a couple weeks earlier cannot possibly include the changes which occur weekly and sometimes daily.

Your TV Editor is often disconcerted by the fact that changes so often occur after the television section has been composed, or after we go to press. But even with this, obstacle considered, it is still your-best bet. Ask Jack Paar.

ODDS &amp; ENDS

"COLLEGE QUIZ BOWL", formerly a radio series on NBC, returns to the air over CBS-TV on January 4.

MAUREEN O'HARA will be starred in a new filmed dramatic series for CBS during the 1959 season, which will be titled "The Woman in the Case". The series is to include stories of romance, suspense, drama, comedy, adventure and melodrama.

BING CROSBY will be guest of honor on the "Dean Martin Show" on NBC November 22.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former President, and former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee have agreed to converse next month with Edward R. Murrow on "Small World".

CELEBRITY, a biographical type of television series, is being readied by CBS in its public affairs department.

AMAH AND HIS VISITORS will be back this year. Those who annually look forward to the annual presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will see it on NBC the evening of December 21, through the grace of Pontiac.

DIAL SPINNERS

COL. FLACK, an adventurous comedy series, makes its premiere appearance on WBEN-TV Friday evening at 7:00. Alan Mowbray is starred in the title role and Frank Jenks is featured as his close friend. Col. Flack was created by Everett Rhodes Castle and appeared over a ten year period in a series of stories in Saturday Evening Post.

YOUR HIT PARADE won't be seen on WBEN-TV this Friday night as the period has been preempted from 7:45 to 8 p. m. by a New York State Republican political program.

PERSON TO PERSON on CBS channels Friday night visits singer Jeannette MacDonald and her actor-husband Gene Raymond and illustrator Russell Patterson and his wife, Ruth.

QUIZDOWN, a 10 a. m. program starting on WJAC Saturday, is scheduled annually by that station. The school-age quiz show is a competition among schools of the Johnstown area.

FACE THE NATION, a CBS program at 12:30 Sunday noon, will present Paul Butler, Democratic National Committeeman, in an interview with a panel of newsmen. Chairman of the Republican National Committee Alcorn was interviewed last Sunday.

MR. WIZARD has scheduled these shows for Sundays at 2 p. m. during the month of November: Nov. 2, "Transformers"; Nov. 9, "Vapors"; Nov. 16, "Codes"; Nov. 23, "Echo and Reverberation"; Nov. 30, "Heat Into Work".

NBC KALEIDOSCOPE, its first program in the new experimental series to be seen on the NBC network (alternating with Omnibus), will present Sunday, 5-6 p. m., a probing examination of the problems of people living inside the Iron Curtain, focusing on the refugees forced out of Communist East Germany, in "Subway to Freedom".

MEET THE PRESS will present the California gubernatorial candidates William Knowland and Pat Brown for their first TV and radio appearance together Sunday at 6-6:30. The two candidates will be interviewed separately, each for 15 minutes, by a panel of newsmen.

20TH CENTURY will present the second part of "The Red Sell" at 6:30 Sunday on CBS channels. Last Sunday, the first part was shown, "The Propaganda Mill". This coming Sunday, the television audience will be taken to the prime global goals of Russian propaganda in "Report From the Targets". In addition to Mr. Cronkite, five CBS newsmen will report: Peter Kalischer of Southeast Asia; Arthur Bonner from India; Austin Goodrich of Finland; Richard C. Hottelet on South America; and Frank Kearns on the middle East.

SMALL WORLD at 6 p. m. Sunday will have Edward R. Murrow as the ocean-spanning host interviewing the famous novelist, Rebecca West of Buckinghamshire, England; nuclear scientist Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover in Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Mark Van Doren, Pulitzer prize-winning poet in Cornwall, Conn.

LORETTA YOUNG SHOW, Sunday night at 10:00, presents "Out of Control", a drama telling of a juvenile delinquency wave which shocks parents to drastic action in a small average American city. A group of "vigilante" fathers turn the tables on their reckless youngsters and reinstate old-fashioned rules of conduct.

VOICE OF FIRESTONE at 9 p. m. Monday on WGR and WFBG will have Met star Rise Stevens as guest of honor. Brian Sullivan will also be heard in highlights from "Samson and Delilah".

ELECTION RETURNS will be covered extensively by CBS and NBC networks beginning at 9:00 Tuesday night. Programs will be cancelled for this evening as the networks cover the returns of major contests on national, state and local levels. Radio coverage will also be provided by the networks. Top newsmen will do the reporting and evaluating. The special election night broadcasts will continue at least until midnight.

YOU MAY SUFFER SERIOUS TV TROUBLES unless you know these facts

Because your TV picture tube is subject to wear and the aging effects of time, it will have to be replaced at some time during the life of your set. When this time comes, remember these important facts:

- A good picture tube requires the best high-grade materials and the best manufacturing skills. So don't buy a bargain-priced picture tube.
- Insist upon a reputable brand picture tube with a familiar trade-mark. A compromise in quality will give you little satisfaction.
- A 12-month warranty card is your protection. Insist upon and get your warranty card.

Customer satisfaction is the foundation of our success, and that's why we recommend and install RCA Silverama Super-Aluminized Picture Tubes.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby
THE SENSES

"Gateways to the Mind," a continuation of the Bell Telephone Company's science series, was the first one of these things to hold me uninterruptedly for an hour, to be completely understandable and not to be overwhelmed by cuteness. Not that the cuteness had entirely disappeared.

This one, for example, opened with a stagehand yelling to Dr. Frank Baxter, the scientist emcee: "Ready on the Aristotle set!"

"Why (ital) there (end ital) he is," rejoins Dr. Baxter, "getting a shave and surrounded as usual by his stooges." And there he was indeed, Aristotle, in toga and buskin, snarling: "Nothing is worse than a dull razor. What do you think about the senses?" (Well, you've got to talk about something with your barber. My barber is very sharp on the sensory perception of Willie Mays.)

Baxter spent the hour wandering around a large set, talking about the senses to cameramen (who equated the camera to an eye,) stagehands, animators and so forth. There were clear and fortunately not too fancy cartoons demonstrating sight, sound, taste and the other senses (at least fourteen rather than the five we once supposed) and the cartoon characters didn't try for laughs at the expense of information as they once did.

My complaint is that the presentation was perhaps too elementary. Looking through my notes I can't see that I learned much of anything about the workings of the senses that I didn't already know (and if I know, everybody over seven knows it). I keep harboring the stubborn, probably vain, conviction that the purpose of educational television is to be educational, not to marshal facts we already know but to marshal some we don't know.

The program, I must admit, finished strong with a peek into the extensions of the senses which, as Dr. Baxter points out, is why we're sending those satellites into space. A final demonstration of electric shocks to the brain giving surgery patients the feeling of experiencing again bits of their past was a spectacular reminder that the brain is "a continuing record of a man's past, a living storehouse of his experience, embracing the total spectrum of human experience, unique in each of us."

The next Bell show will be called the "Alphabet Conspiracy" and it'll be broadcast in color over NBC-TV Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. EST.

The Bell science shows are blazingly, incorrigibly and sometimes irritatingly cheerful explorations and, while I have nothing against this sunny good nature, it demonstrates the weakness of the sponsored approach to our information programs which is slightly alarming.

In his Chicago speech, Edward R. Television News Directors convention about this incessant cheeriness: "If there were to be a competition in indifference or perhaps in insulation from reality, then Nero and his fiddle, Chamberlain and his umbrella, could not find a place on an early afternoon sustaining show. If Hollywood were to run out of Indians, the program schedules would be mangled beyond all recognition. Then some courageous soul with a small budget might be able to do a documentary telling what, in fact, we have done and are still doing - to the Indians in this country. But that would be unpleasant. And we must at all costs shield the sensitive citizens from anything that is unpleasant."

And why, I keep asking, must we be so infernally pleasant? I don't even think it's good box office. At Radio City Music Hall is "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," one of the few big box office smashes MGM has had in years. Is it pleasant? Is there anything much that is pleasant about "Bridge on the River Kwai" which is one of the biggest of all commercial movie hits? Contrariwise, the incessantly frivolous movies and plays have been some terrible duds while such intensely serious plays as "Look Homeward, Angel" and "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" are the popular ones. Not simply popular with critics, popular with audiences.

It is the sponsor and the ad agency that strains to be pleasant, not the people. Said Murrow: "I am entirely persuaded that the American public is more reasonable, restrained and more mature than most of our industry's program-planners believe. . . I would like television to produce some itching pills rather than this endless outpouring of tranquilizers."

automatic utensil.

GRIDDLE-IN-THE-MIDDLE
for family fun—Cooking's a treat when good things to eat are grilled on the man-size griddle of your Dixie 30". And the griddle is so easy to remove and clean that no one minds washing up afterwards.

This new as tomorrow 30" DIXIE
Gas Range has the much-wanted
THERMAL-EYE Automatic Top
Burner Heat Control which adjusts flame to desired temperature while cooking... and keeps it there. Other Dixie Thirty features include full-width oven and drop-

"THE LAST SURVIVOR"

The Age of the Dinosaur is ended and so is the Age of the
"OLD FASHIONED POLITICAL BOSS"

WASHINGTON, D.C. NEWS

Pennsylvania

By JACK STEELE
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 13—An old-fashioned political boss—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh—is

Mr. Lawrence is the last survivor of a noted group of Democratic big city bosses, including Frank Hague of Jersey City, Ed Kelly of Chicago and Ed Crump of Memphis. Together they cooked up many fine political stunts.

Mayors Kelly, Crump and Hague were content usually to name the party's candidates for higher offices, but Mr. Lawrence, at 69, decided this year to take one last fling at running himself.

STATEMENT—1958

"I am convinced that if Mayor Lawrence, by some dreadful mischance, is elected Governor, the outrageous hand of bossism will take over and the Matt McCloskeys of the party will converge on the Capitol like a swarm of locusts.

"There is no question in my mind—and the minds of thousands of Democrats—that if Boss Lawrence and the McCloskey type of politicians are permitted to seize control of state government, the calamity and ruin they brought upon the Democratic party 20 years ago will be tragically reenacted."

—Lieut. Gov. Roy E. Furman, 1958

POLITICAL PROGRAMS

No attempt is being made to list the many political spot talks, most of which are from five to fifteen minutes duration. Regularly scheduled programs will be delayed a few minutes in these cases.

Sports Dial...

BOXING - World's featherweight champion Hogan "Kid" Bassey, of Nigeria, faces Carmelo Costa, of Brooklyn, in a 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night on Cavalcade of Sports, NBC-TV and Radio. Bassey, winner of three 1958 fights, kayoed former featherweight champ Willie Pep in the ninth round in September in his last outing. Costa won three and lost one this year.

FOOTBALL - An NCAA Big Ten Game will be televised on NBC channels Saturday afternoon at 2:15. Pro Football will be seen Sunday on some CBS channels at 2 o'clock when the New York Giants meet the Cleveland Browns at Cleveland.

BASKETBALL - The St. Louis Hawks, last year's champions, meet the Cincinnati Royals in a professional basketball game on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, to be seen on WJAC and WICU.

HOCKEY - In the National Hockey League Matches, Detroit will be playing at Boston at 2 p. m. Saturday. WBEN-WSEE-KDKA.

There's no "witchery" about family protection. It must be carefully arranged for. Few men want their wives to go through the worries of estate administration, and the problems of taxation, in this complex day and age. So, they provide a sound estate plan and a competent executor. Name the Warren Bank and Trust Company as executor of your estate. We will be happy to meet with you and your attorney to work out the business and financial aspects of your estate plan. Call us soon!

Only SIEGLER'S lifetime
CAST IRON CONSTRUCTION
 can withstand and USE the 4 times hotter heat

There are many reasons why Siegler Home Heaters are constructed of heavy cast iron. First, it will withstand continuous high temperatures necessary for full house heating. It can't make annoying "popping" noises like so many sheet metal heaters do. It permits the sturdy construction that gives you many, many years of dependable, trouble-free service. Just try and tip a Siegler—you'll be convinced it's built to last!

SEASONAL TAPS

Gone the sun,
From the hills,
From the dales,
From the sky.
All is damp,
Cold,
And dark . . .
Winter's nigh.

BUT FUN GOES ON

There are among us some hearties. This is their season and decked with bright red they brave fall's sharp bite for a few bites of their own, provided by the hopping bunny, the scrambling squirrel, the thumping grouse, the colorful ringneck, and any other wee creature of the forest which might be legal.

The opening day was a wet one for the gunners but many were out there and those with patience brought in a few. It should be good for the game supply. A wet opener means many stayed home while others provided the initial fright that makes the beasts not so easy prey.

The blast at ducks which preceded the small game season was reported to be very heavy in the Pymatuning area, with two hundred Canadian geese included in the average kill of mallards and blacks.

The state is adding many acres each year to assure hunting space. In some cases land is purchased outright, such as the 10,300 acres acquired this year, including the 8,300-acre Shohola tract in Pike county.

In addition there are working agreements with others, such as the 1,500 acres in the Indian Rock dam and reservoir project. The Game Commission manages this area for outdoor sports.

Another large share of acreage made available to the hunters is that posted by farmers. Agreements were made with farmers last year to open up 144,000 acres of good hunting land to the nimrods. More of all three kinds will be added next year.

STILL AFIELD

There are others who are not fazed by the transitional stage of weather that is with us during the intermediate season. Among them are the golfers who once put their clubs away when Labor Day went by. Now there is organized play until October, and there are others who keep pounding the fairways and the roughways as they pursue good health and something to do.

The chestnuts are gone, but the human counterparts are prolific. No matter the weather you are certain to bump into a fellow hoofer in the most isolated of backwoods. Man was made to walk, and whether it is a maid who leads him afield in search of wildflowers or his urge for adventure, his legs carry him into the deep underbrush.

Reasons he will find in many forms, cameras, bows, the taste of game, or the study of nature, but afielding he will go.

But times are changing just a mite in this respect. We can remember when a very hardy race existed. They were known as football fans. They followed the team straight through to Thanksgiving. It wasn't a question of whether you were going to attend the game. The question was what you were going to wear.

Arming for the event could range from boots to several layers of sweaters and blankets, tucked in, under, over, and around. There also were some who tipped a wee nip of dandelion juice before embarking. Its fire had a lasting effect. And for those who liked their story continued, a reservoir was transported for refueling.

We hear the fans complaining about the lack of toughness on the part of current teams. They complain about the blocking and the soft, high tackling. But most of them stay at home with the furnace and watch television if there is a cloud in the sky. Once they were tougher than the men on the field. Today they have no right to complain. They are a soft lot themselves.

EVEN IT UP

Talk of sports brings us around to the large part luck plays in various games. Quality performance over the long haul pays off, as bowling averages, golf handicaps, and seasons records reveal, but in a single match or game, or even in a series, the breaks can make the difference.

For this reason we believe that any efforts to reduce the part played by luck is worthwhile. With fans paying millions to watch some sports, they deserve the best of conditions so that they can enjoy well played contests. And they deserve a conclusion.

Football plays to huge crowds,

but at the same time ignores their wishes. College football seldom has a championship settled in a bowl game. With the colleges paying big money for football and the fans providing it, why not a few bowl games with the contestants determined by the season's results.

In pro ball they want that buck so much that during the weeks when the fields are in their fairest shape only warm-up games are played. When they really get down to cases the fields become a soggy mess with breaks playing a major role, and with the fans suffering in the stands.

The sportsmen pay millions to see fast running and action. The best way to provide that is with a dry field. When the big ones are played, the gridirons are a mucky stew.

The same goes for the winter rule in golf. We believe it should be standard. A good drive deserves a good lie. You can provide that with a rule that will control the movement of the ball so that it can be fairly hit. But a player should not be allowed to improve his general lie. There is no rule to limit his action, and there should be. The rub of the green should be minimized by a fair lie where it is deserved.

We have been in and out of season in this piece. We'll hear from that winter rule idea . . . all winter no doubt. And you will hear more about it from us, and from national leaders in the field about five months from now.

May your luck be good, but may your skill be better.

FIRST LONE RANGER PEACE PATROL FORMED IN PENNSYLVANIA

The Lone Ranger, popular radio and television personality, formed the first Lone Ranger Peace Patrol in Pennsylvania when he visited Pittsburgh recently.

The Peace Patrol is a national organization open to boys and girls (grown-ups, too) who buy U. S. Savings Stamps regularly. Anyone buying a Savings Stamp at school or at the post office will receive a membership card upon request.

In the above picture with the Lone Ranger are Martin, Michael and Mary Thornton with George and John Christy making the Peace Patrol Pledge "to LEARN, because knowledge and understanding will help keep peace in the world; and to SAVE, because U. S. Savings Stamps and Bonds will help keep our country strong." The children live in Oakmont, suburb of Pittsburgh.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Michigan State and Wisconsin will be the NCAA Football Game of the Week televised over NBC network stations at 2:15 Saturday afternoon.

BEATY FOOTBALL

Jefferson Junior High of Jamestown knocked Warren from the ranks of the undefeated in Chadakoin Valley Junior High School Football League play and took undisputed possession of first place in the loop with a 21 to 0 win over Beaty last Thursday.

Jefferson scored on a 20 yard pass in the second quarter, a one yard plunge in the third quarter and an intercepted pass in the final quarter.

This afternoon Beaty will play Lincoln Junior High of Jamestown in Warren in their last scheduled CVJHS football game of the season.

The league standings are Jefferson, 4 and 0; BEATY, 3 and 1; Washington, 3 and 1; Lincoln, 2 and 2; Southwestern, 0 and 4; and Falconer, 0 and 4.

CORRY HEADS DISTRICT

The Corry Beavers this week rated top billing in balloting to determine the best team in District 10 for the fourth consecutive week. Warren's tie with Ridgway dropped the Dragons from third place to seventh place in the ratings. This week's top seven in the ratings are Corry, Grove City, Erie Academy, Sharpville, Erie East, Franklin and Warren.

NEW SOFTBALL FIELD

A group of Warren softball enthusiasts are busy working out details to give Warren a new softball field complete with lights, bleachers and dugouts. The new field, to be built on the West Side near the present West Side diamond, would allow Warren to stage softball tournaments and would boost fan interest in the game in Warren. The group hopes to have the field in operation by next spring.

BASKETBALL TRY-OUTS for Warren high school students start Monday when the seniors and juniors will report at three o'clock in Beaty gym where Coach Joe Massa will look them over. The sophomores report at the same hour in the high school gym where Andy Randas, the JV coach, will be in charge. The Dragons open their schedule November 29 against Erie Academy. ## ELKERS TIE DRAGONS

An underdog Ridgway high football team came from behind a 14 point deficit the first half to tie the Warren high Dragons 14-14 on War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon.

Coach Ralph Veights and his boys now own a 4-2-1 record for the campaign.

The Saturday contest, plagued with penalties went scoreless until Dick Terry ripped off 30 yards and a TD in the second stanza. The speedy back also ran over with the extra point.

A supposedly substantial lead was racked up when Lou Mascaro tossed to Jack Lobdell on a 20-yard scoring play and Bob Hasle* plunged for the point after.

Trailing 14-0 the Elkers. battled back to tie it up in the third quarter. Dave Bennett broke away on a 55-yard jaunt to set Ridgway up for their first tally on the five-yard stripe. On the third play he scored.

Ridgway pounced on a Warren mistake on the Dragons' 25 and then enjoyed a 15-yard penalty against Warren to put Pistelli in position to charge over from about one foot. The PAT knotted the game.

Auto Industry Urged To Create Safety Standards

The Traffic Safety Policy Coordination committee has released the results of its study of the 1957 inventory of traffic safety activities in New York state, as made by the National Safety Council. The most sensational portion of the report is the recommendation of an annual rating of the safety features of the new automobiles by name and manufacturer.

It is claimed the program for safety is not complete. We are doing something about the way cars are driven and about the regulations that apply to their operation, but we are doing nothing about the cars. While commenting in great detail on the traffic safety activities of the states and cities, the annual report says nothing about safety activities, or the lack of them, of the automobile manufacturers.

With these cars as the vehicles for disabling one and a half million people annually, and the death of forth thousand, the committee in its report to Governor Harriman suggested that something should be done. It believes that if the car industry fails to act, government controls will result.

It criticizes the fact that many so-called safety features in the new cars are "optional" instead of standard equipment. The conclusion of the report reads:

"Although we welcomed the announcement that 1959 automobile models will have more safety features, it is difficult to understand how so many of them can be regarded as 'optional' and the Committee is not yet convinced that the automobile manufacturers have seriously committed themselves to designing automobiles that will reduce the total number of accidents and minimize the seriousness of those which do occur. That this can be done has been clearly indicated by research at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo and also by the field studies of the Cornell Crash Injury Project in which New York State is participating.

"Although there has been some improvement in automobile design such as the removal of pointed hood ornaments many new style innovations appear to be equally dangerous. The visors projecting over the headlights which have become a common feature would seem a doubtful contribution to pedestrian safety, since they are placed where they may strike a lethal blow to the torso of anyone struck by a passing fender. It is doubtful that any consideration was given this possible safety hazard when this innovation was adopted for style purposes.

"As usual, it appears the 1959 cars will be wider than this year's which were wider than last year's. It does not appear however that any thought was given to the number of people who will be killed or injured as a result of the extra four inches of car space that will be occupied by two passing cars each of which is two inches wider. Thousands of miles of secondary and even primary highways throughout the state and nation are becoming more and more unsafe as our automobiles become more bloated. The economic costs of replacing these highways does not appear to have been given any consideration either.

"The committee feels it would be entirely appropriate for the National Safety Council to issue an Annual Inventory of the Traffic Safety Features of New Automobile Models. The Inventory would list features such as recessed steering wheels, padded instrument panels, and spring-proof doors which contribute to safety. It would also list features which constitute potential safety hazards. The Council would thus give a safety rating to each model produced by each manufacturer each year.

"Such a rating could literally be a lifesaver to the buying public. Carried out with the characteristic integrity and thoroughness of the National Safety Council, it could create an atmosphere in which the manufacturers could compete for customers on the basis of the safety of their automobiles rather than their capacity to go 120 miles per hour.

"Legislation was proposed at the recently completed session of Congress which would have prohibited sale in interstate commerce of any automobile not conforming to safety standards that would be prescribed by the Secretary of Commerce. The Committee feels that unless such standards are established by a non-governmental organization such as the National Safety Council and voluntarily adhered to by the automobile manufacturers, there is every likelihood that the public will come to insist on government regulation. If this outcome, which few would wish, is to be avoided it is incumbent upon the automobile manufacturers to regulate themselves. In such an effort an annual inventory of traffic safety features of new automobile models conducted by the National Safety Council could be of crucial importance."

WARREN COUNTY GRID ACTIVITY THIS WEEK END
One Warren County high school football team will be at home this Saturday afternoon and two other county football teams will travel for their Saturday afternoon encounters.

Sheffield, 3 and 4, will be host to Port Allegany in an Allegheny Mountain League game. Both teams have faced Otto Township and Coudersport with opposite results. Sheffield clubbed Otto Township, 27 to 7, but Otto shaded Port Allegany, 19 to 18. And Port Allegany dumped Coudersport, 14 to 7, but Coudersport tripped Sheffield, 18 to 14. Warren, 4-2-1, will travel to Kane, 2-4-1. Both teams have played a tie game with Ridgway, their only common opponent. The Wolves and Ridgway battled to a scoreless tie in their season opener and Warren and Ridgway were involved in a 14 to 14 tie game last Saturday. Northern Area, 5 and 1, will travel to Cassadaga Valley, 5 and 1, in their quest of the Northwestern Conference title. The game is a "must" for the Knights who are 3 and 0 in conference play. Cassadaga Valley owns a 3 and 1 Northwestern Conference record. Both teams have downed Randolph, Brocton and Westfield. NA scores in those three games were Randolph, 27 to 6; Brocton, 32 to 7; and Westfield, 26 to 12. Cassadaga Valley scores were Randolph, 41 to 6; Brocton, 27 to 0; and Westfield, 20 to 0.

AREA FOOTBALL RESULTS

WARREN COUNTY -- Warren and Ridgway tied, 14 to 14, Coudersport nipped Sheffield, 18 to 14, Youngsville clubbed Randolph, Pa., 28 to 12, and Northern Area tripped Kane, 7 to 0.

SECTION II -- Franklin smothered Oil City, 52 to 7, in the only game affecting league standings. In non-league play Corry downed Millcreek, 41 to 7, Jamestown, N. Y. blanked Meadville, 40 to 0, and Sharpville whipped Titusville, 44 to 6.

ALLEGHENY MOUNTAIN -- St. Marys defeated Otto Township, 46 to 13, in a league game. Port Allegany tied Olean, N. Y., 13 to 13.

NORTHWESTERN CONFERENCE -- Westfield blanked Brocton, 13 to 0, and Cassadaga Valley whipped Randolph, 41 to 6, in league play. In non-league action Silver Creek beat Fredonia, 20 to 12, and Ripley and Forestville tied, 7 to 7.

ERIE AREA -- Cathedral Prep blanked Harborcreek, 21 to 0, and East bumped Strong Vincent, 26 to 12.

OTHER -- Unbeaten Bradford outscored Punxsutawney, 27 to 7, Johnsonburg shut out Emporium, 13 to 0, Sharon took Aliquippa, 19 to 14, Grove City downed Greenville, 21 to 0, and Conemaugh Township defeated Dubois, 12 to 6.

STOPPED. Warren back Bob Haslet was stopped by Ridgway's Zimmerman in this first quarter action of Saturday's football game. The favored Dragons settled for a 14-14 tie in the contest.

WHAT NOW? Quarterback Lou Mascaro and Coach Ralph Veights talk over some offensive tactics early in the Warren-Ridgway grid contest which ended in a 14-14 tie.

SETTING UP A SCORE. The telephoto lense brings in the play which provided Ridgway with its first score Saturday. It started from well on the Elk side of the field, Ridgway is running to the left. The four white jerseys, 10, 32 and two others are behind the runner who has bolted through the center of the line and is off for a fifty-five-yard romp.

At the line of scrimmage it seems the officials have missed one. The dark Elk jersey on the ground seems to be lovingly caressing a Warren defender's leg. The caressed (Mascaro) broke loose however and is the boy who nailed the runner on the five-yard stripe. The Elks scored in the next series.

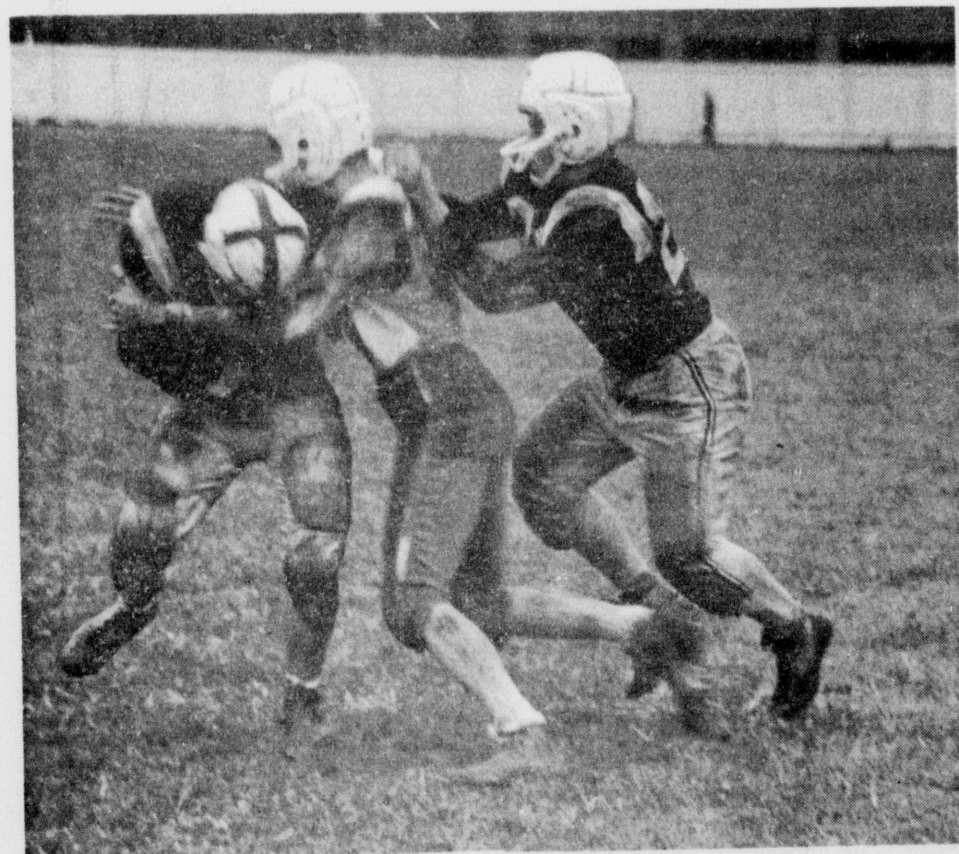

EX-DRAGON GRAPPLER Bob Olson is on the wrestling team at Thiel College.

A junior, he was honored during a convocation recently for his scholastic achievement. It is the second time he has received such honor.

Olson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Olson, R.D. 2, Warren.

NOT FAR . . . . . but far enough. The Warren boys are directly in the path of this Ridgway back, but he gained enough inches from the six-inch line to give the Elks their first score in the 14-14 tie game.

BIG HOLE. This Ridgway back is coming through a large gap in the right side of the Dragon line. It was an easy score from the one-foot line.
